

Chad E. Tillbrook, Ph.D., graduated from the University of Alabama with a PhD in Clinical Psychology with a Concentration in Psychology and Law. He completed his predoctoral internship at New York University School of Medicine and Bellevue Hospital, and then completed the Postdoctoral Fellowship in Forensic Psychology at the University of Massachusetts Medical School, Law and Psychiatry Program. For approximately 10 years, he was an Assistant Professor of Psychiatry in the Law and Psychiatry Program at the University of Massachusetts Medical School and forensic psychologist at Worcester State Hospital. In 2011, he was hired as a forensic psychologist at the Federal Bureau of Prisons, Federal Medical Center at Devens.

Dr. Tillbrook's primary interests are criminal competencies, malingering, and risk assessment. In clinical settings, Dr. Tillbrook has conducted pre-adjudication evaluations, including competency to stand trial, mental state at the time of the offense, and aid in sentencing. He has also conducted evaluations pertaining to individual's risk for future violent offending, and assisted agencies in devising risk management strategies. He has presented and written articles and book chapters on a variety of topics related to these research interests. Most notably, he is a co-author of the Evaluation of Competency to Stand Trial-Revised (2004).